New Principal States Views

After a month as Rose Drive School's new principal, 34 year old Janet MacLean has made some assessments, planned some innovations and set some goals for next year.

Principal of the local school since February 4, Mrs. MacLean comes to Yorba Linda from Fountain Valley School District where she served as an assistant principal in Kindergarten through eighth grade schools. A graduate of California State College at Los Angeles with a B.A. in education, she completed study for her Masters degree and administrative credential at Chapman College.

Her teaching career began in Los Angeles City Schools from 1963 through 1966, then she accepted a job with the Orange Unified School District.

In Yorba Linda, she looks forward to approaching her goal of "each child working at his own potential," with the aid of Rose Drive staff. "I find that the teachers here are very dedicated, eager to improve their own skills, ready to accept suggestions, and ready to progress to the ideal--a really good staff," she commented.

"The ideal," as Mrs. MacLean sees it is "Meeting individual needs of a child by finding out 'where a child is', what he is ready for next--then provide that kind of program."

"I'm looking forward to developing some techniques or tools for identifying the needs of individual students---to be used at the classroom level." To that end, Mrs. MacLean stresses more parent involvement and also more student involvement in solving their own problems.

Under Mrs. MacLean's direction, a student advisory board is already in initial stages of operation at Rose Drive. The board includes a representative from each of the fourth, fifth and sixth grade classrooms, making a total of 13 students.

In terms of parent involvement, Mrs. MacLean has already had a taste of what Rose Drive parents can do following a needs assessment survey for a possible Early Childhood Education program at the school. Return on the survey was, according to Mrs. MacLean, an encouraging 82 per cent. Hopefully, state funding will enable Rose Drive to incorporate an ECE program into the school's curriculum, but even if ECE funds dry up, Mrs. MacLean would like to see parental involvement in school programs increase.

In terms of discipline, Mrs. MacLean also likes to involve both parents and child in decision making.

"Basically I believe in discipline which is consistent and which encourages the child toward responsible decision making." To that end, Mrs. MacLean prefers the use of counseling techniques, "I like to see students get involved in helping to solve their own problems, to bring them to the point where they are happy with their progress---that's an ideal, others do better if you just send them home, and still others respond better to lots of encouragement from behind (spanking), as a last resort," she explained.

"At a certain phase, I like to get parents involved in conferencing with a child, to keep them informed," she continued, "parents have been extremely cooperative."

Mrs. MacLean sees curriculum as a definite tool for modifying behavior. "I like to have children get involved in positive projects that give them the opportunity to experience success---and give us the opportunity to give them the recognition and positive reinforcement they need."

Former CIA Agent Talks Despite Phone Threat

"The young man's voice was soft, calm, as if he were discussing the weather," Yorba Lindan Mrs. Kathleen Huff recalled,--but the young man, who gave his name as Peter Simon, was not discussing the weather. He was discussing a death threat--to Mrs. Huff, her family and, in particular, to a special visitor, former CIA official John Lynch.

According to Mrs. Huff, the phoned threat came on the Thursday before the Yorba Linda Federated Republican Women were to hold their regular Wednesday meeting. The young man told Mrs. Huff that unless Lynch turned over his secret files on the Kennedy assasination (he didn't say which one) and the Watergate scandal to Judge Sirica, he (Lynch) would be "machine gunned."

"He's going to be protected, of course," he told Mrs. Huff, "but if he isn't he could be machine gunned, so could you and your family."

As it turned out, Lynch was protected by a Brea police body guard, and no incident was reported.

"I was really just a conduit for a threat to Lynch," Mrs. Huff explained.

Lynch, undaunted by the threat kept his speaking appointment with the local club. He devoted most of his talk to debunking the claims of a professed former CIA "hired assassin," Philip "Dave" Thomas, whose colorful tales of "CIA adventures" at a recent meeting of the Orange County Bar Association prompted Lynch to question Thomas' authenticity.

"A prime requisite for a CIA agent is more guts than sense," Lynch told the local woman, "but there's more intrigue in politics than in the CIA".

Having been involved in both, Lynch should know. The former CIA agent was a candidate for the 69th assembly seat in the June primary.

Lynch also debunked hints of dealings between the CIA and Mafia. "Although anything is possible in intelligence, CIA works on laws of probability--and it is highly improbable that two such secretive groups as the Mafia and CIA would trust each other."

Lynch continued his talk, questioning the reported activities of "agent" Thomas. According to Lynch the FBI is now "looking into Thomas' background and story."

"---And it's quite a story," Lynch said, "My CIA service was mild and colorless compared to his."

Luckily, for both the Huff's and Lynch, Wednesday's meeting was rather mild too.

Unruffled by the assassination threat, Lynch completed his talk under surveillance of Brea PD officers.

The telephone threat is under investigation by the FBI, according to Mrs. Huff.

Assessment District Stalled

City Eyes Park Funding

Proposal of a city wide park's assessment district faltered at last Monday's city council meeting in the face of a staff recommendation that costs would be prohibitive. The report leaves city council members faced with another dead-end in their attempts to finance a city park system.

According to a report by city administrator Art Simonian, total costs for the proposal are approximately $2 million, with $228,000 allocated for engineering assessment work, financial, legal and other related administrative costs.

Simonian estimated that the cost for engineers to perform the survey work and assessment engineering work, which is required to be done prior to the holding of a public hearing, would be approximately $100,000. If the district is not formed this expenditure is not recoverable, Simonian warned. "Also, based on preliminary investigation of the 1975-76 budget, such funds will not be available next year," Simonian concluded.

"The consulting engineers, legal counsel and others experienced in assessment work, as well as city staff thus far recommend against formation of a city-wide assessment district. It is staff's opinion that there are better and more equitable methods of accomplishing the Council's goals."

Simonian said that even if funds were available the formation of an assessment district would take between six and eight months. Formation of the district would go into effect unless a protest amounting to 51 per cent of the total assessed valuation were registered. "But even with only a ten per cent protest you'd get about 700 people coming in here saying they don't want it. I doubt very much whether the council or any other council in California could stand up to that type of political pressure," Simonian said.

City attorney Len Hampel also pointed out that the possibilities of "things not going well" for an assessment district were greater than with other modes of fundraising for local parks. "If everything went well, the assessment district route would be shorter, but potential setbacks are more likely. Also you're spending $228,000 to raise $700,000 for land and $600,000 for construction.

A majority agreed to continue consideration of the assessment district or a workable alternative to a special work session. As far as attitudes on a 'workable alternative' were concerned, councilmen varied.

"I could not see a park bond being passed, "commented councilmen Rudy Castro," you would need a two thirds majority vote. "It would be defeated. The other alternative is a city tax. It's most definitely a political decision, but one which we must make. This would be a do-nothing council if you had to depend on large numbers of people in order to make a decision. Short of a city tax, I would have to go for an assessment district because even though we'd be paying through the nose for it, we know darn well a bond issue isn't going to pass."

Councilman Whit Cromwell disagreed: "My first objection to an assessment district is that you're not going to the people on a large expenditure. Also, the assessment district involves many inequities. As far as a general obligation bond is concerned, people can vote for it if they want parks badly enough. You're not by-passing the people. If people do not want it enough to work for it--then the responsibility is taken off your back."

Date for the special work session will be set Friday when all five of the council members are available to agree on a time.

Police Beat

March 15

Someone pioneering a new idea in Welcome Wagons broke into Donald Peters' hew home at 5170 Los Altos, Yorba Linda, Friday night and stole a $125 pistol and holster. Peters bought the house three weeks ago.

March 13

In William Shakespear's "Macbeth", Birnham Woods takes off for Dunsinane--and now Whispering Woods have become footloose as well. Or at least a four foot by eight foot sign bearing that inscription valued at $400 has been taken from the corner of Sycamore and Avocado in Yorba Linda by persons unknown, the developer told police last Thursday.

March 11

The importance of keeping a record of firearm serial numbers was underscored last Wednesday by the arrest of a Duarte man and a Pomona man on charges of receipt of stolen property.

Last December the home of Gary W. Hein, 17071 La Colette, Yorba Linda, was burglarized. $5200 worth of belonging was reported stolen, including some guns.

Last Tuesday, nearly three months later, Azusa police reportedly stopped Thomas James Cosgrove, Duarte, and Paul Richard Davis, Pomona, on suspicion of armed robbery. A handgun in their possession bore the same serial number as that of one stolen from Hein, Brea police said.

Cosgrove and Davis were turned over to Brea PD.

March 10

A mink stole valued at $500 was reported stolen a week ago Monday from the home of Julie Adams Canty, 19728 Marsala, Yorba Linda. There were signs that the burglar was interrupted by Mrs. Canty's return home at 3:15 p.m. and was forced to abandon other items he had intended to take.

Local Educator Receives "Hall Of Fame" Honors

Yorba Lindan Toby Cromwell will be among 40 educators who were recognized by the National Teachers Hall of Fame for "dedication to profession and example set for thousands of children."

Former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Robert Finch, delivered the keynote address in a special presentation Sunday at the Fullerton College little theater. Other dignitaries present included Fullerton Mayor Frances Wood, Assemblyman Paul Carpenter and Third District Supervisor Ralph Diedrich.

Born in Oxford, Mississippi, Cromwell came to California at age 2, received his elementary school education in Yorba Linda schools, attended Fullerton Union High School and Fullerton Junior College. He received his B.A. from Whittier College, and M.A. from Long Beach State.

The 54 year old local man served with the U.S. Marine Corps as a Naval Aviator during World War II and continued in the reserves program up until 1963. He retired with the rank of major.

Cromwell taught in Fullerton schools from 1951 to 1955, then took on a post as principal of Fern Drive School in Fullerton.

In an interview with the Star, Cromwell commented on philosophy of education: "To me some of the best material on human behavior is contained in the Bible. Modern psychology has only been in existence for about 100 to 150 years. The Bible gives excellent advise that has existed over thousands of years. It helps guide us in terms of how we guide the child."

"In terms of modern psychology,' he continued, "I strongly adhere to the idea that if you truly love youngsters, you'll hold them responsible for irresponsible actions. I also believe in praise and positive reinforcement for those who've been doing well."

Looking back on 24 years as an educator, Cromwell noted that the most rewarding part of his job is relating to the children themselves. "When a little kindergarten kid or first grader grabs my hand and wants to share an exciting educational experience, or when little guys just feel good about themselves and want to tell you about it--that's my reward."

"If I only make one statement, it would have to be this, the only thing I have to give kids is God's love. The more I allow God to live through me, the more I have to give," he concluded.

Locally, Cromwell has been active in the Yorba Linda United Methodist Church through participation in church choir, various commissions, Church Board, couples club and Sunday school class. His affiliation with the Yorba Linda United Methodist Church dates back to 1922.

He also has been a member of the YMCA for the past 24 years.

RECENTLY HONORED--for "dedication to profession and example set for children" Toby Cromwell confers with two of his Fern Drive school children, first graders Lyn Barba and Matt Severson.

Kust, Bob Hollingsead, and James Mock, Inc.

"Our Century Club is still growing. We need the help of all Yorba Linda to reach our goal," noted Criner.

Anyone wishing to join the Century Club is urged to call Criner at 528-7634 or Myers at 528-5420. Sustaining members wishing to contribute $25 to $100 also may call the YMCA office or Carolyn Ewing at 524-7304, Jean Woodard at 524-8077, or Lucia Kust at 528-8767.

"We need support to maintain a full time office and program staff for the local extension," Criner concluded.

VOLUNTEERS HAVE TRAINING SESSION

Brea PD Gives YL Crime Report

Yorba Linda's crime rate, which had fallen off in 1973, rebounded with vigor in 1974, according to figures released by the Brea Police Department.

A total of 515 crimes were investigated in the city last year, up from 360 in 1973 and 440 in 1972. The increase over '73 was 43 per cent --but only 17 per cent over '72.

Armed robberies showed a jump to eight for the year versus one each for '73 and '72. There were no strongarm robberies, although both '73 and '72 had shown one each.

Aggravated assaults rose to 15, up from 9 in '73 and 11 in '72. Rape entered the picture for the first time with 2 forcibles and one attempt. For the third year running, however, there were no homicides.

Theft continued to comprise the largest single category of crimes, amounting to 57 per cent of all reports. Petty thefts of less than $200 numbered 251, as opposed to grand theft cases ($200 and over) which totaled 44.

All thefts, at 295 cases, showed increases over '73 (183) and '72 (256).

Burglaries of all kinds made up 34 per cent of reports, a total of 176 (versus '73 figures of 147 and '72 figures of 152). Residential burglaries, at 119 made up the biggest block.

Unlike most other statistics, commercial and vehicle burglaries (41 and 16 respectively) showed a continuous rise over the three-year period.

Auto thefts numbered 18, down from 19 in both previous years.

Total value of all property reported stolen in the city was $239,643.74, up 143 per cent from 1973 or 112 per cent from 1972. Of this, 15 per cent was recovered--compared with 16 per cent in '73 and 20 per cent in '72.

Arrests for the year came to 585, of which 54 per cent involved juveniles. Felony arrests comprised 29 per cent of the total, almost evenly divided between adults and juveniles.

Unlike many figure, juvenile arrests rose steadily in the three-year period. 1974's total of 314 compares with 171 in '73 and 100 in '72. Misdemeanor arrests of juveniles have risen most sharply, '74's total of 225 representing an increase of 341 per cent over '72's 51, and 108 per cent over '73's 108. Of all juvenile arrests, 46 per cent or 143, were handled informally.

In all, 18,598 man-hours were reportedly spent by the Brea Police Department in Yorba Linda, 45 per cent of the department's total for the year. This contrasts with 47 per cent for '73.

Overall, 38 per cent of the department's time was devoted to criminal matters and 13 per cent to traffic, representing no significant change over '73 figures.

Yorba Linda accounted for 36 per cent of the department's total mileage of 511,517 miles driven.

Letters To The Editor

Editor:

On behalf of the board of education of the Placentia Unified School District, I want to thank your newspaper and the many people in our community who helped to inform our electorate about the school bond measure on the March 4 ballot.

Your willingness to use your news columns to give the electorate an accurate picture of the need for the bonds and how they would be financed was invaluable and of great public service.

Our special thanks go to the Citizens School Bond Committee, headed by Al Barlow and Dr. Ralph Ruth, who spent many hours and involved many citizens in the campaign. It is encouraging to us on the board to see so many people work so hard to provide for the educational needs of our children.

We are, of course, disappointed that the measure was defeated. We realize that approval by two-thirds of the voters is extremely difficult to achieve on any issue, so we are encouraged that we missed that goal by only 1.4 percentage points.

Because such a large majority of our voters who cast ballots in the election favored the bond authorization and because the need for building funds in our district is so great, the board of education has called for another election May 27 in which the bonds will be the only school issue. We don't look forward to another hard campaign, but we do look forward to the opportunity to work with you and hope we will again gain your support.

Mrs. A.P. Pappas, President
Board of Education
Placentia Unified School District

Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Milbert Family, we wish to publicly express our heartfelt thanks to Chief Keith Earll and members of the Yorba Linda Volunteer Fire Department, for the splendid job they did in containing a fire at our home. Due to their promptness in answering our call for help and the efficiency after they arrived, the main structure was saved, and our loss was held to a minimum.

YL MenTo Make Angel Comeback

The great sport of baseball is taking two Yorba Linda sports back into its league. Bob Knoop and Bob Rogers are rejoining the California Angels organization as minor league managers. Both were Angels for many years.

Bob Knoop was named to the American League All-Star team in 1966, received Golden Gloves for his defensive excellence around second base in 1967 and 1968 and won Angel Owners Most Valuable Player trophies in 1964, 1965, 1966, and 1968.

He is their number two career leader in triples, ranks third in extra base hits and total bases, fourth in at-bats, hits and doubles, fifth in runs and sixth in runs batted in and seventh in homeruns.

After baseball Bob ran the Western Golf Association for the year of its existence.

Bob, his wife Darlene and daughter Christie have lived in Yorba Linda nine years. Bob is a gourmet cook, plays golf and bridge and is a popular guest speaker at civic events. I am looking forward to spring training and then on to "Quad Cities," Knoop said.

Bob Rogers, a strong armed catcher who three times led American League receivers in assists during his eight seasons with the California Angels has proved himself an invaluable aid to the Minnesota Twins while serving as a member of their coaching staff since 1970. "I have five years coaching and I feel I have finished my home work to ultimately become a major league manager," Rogers commented.

His Angel record speaks for itself. In his rookie season with the Angels in 1962 Bob caught 150 games to set an American League record for game appearances by a first year catcher. Historians will note that his total for at-bats, doubles, runs batted in, extra base hits and total bases rank second on the club's all time list. He is also third in hits and triples and fourth in runs. He will no longer wear his catching paraphernalia, but along with Knoop is aiming for major league.

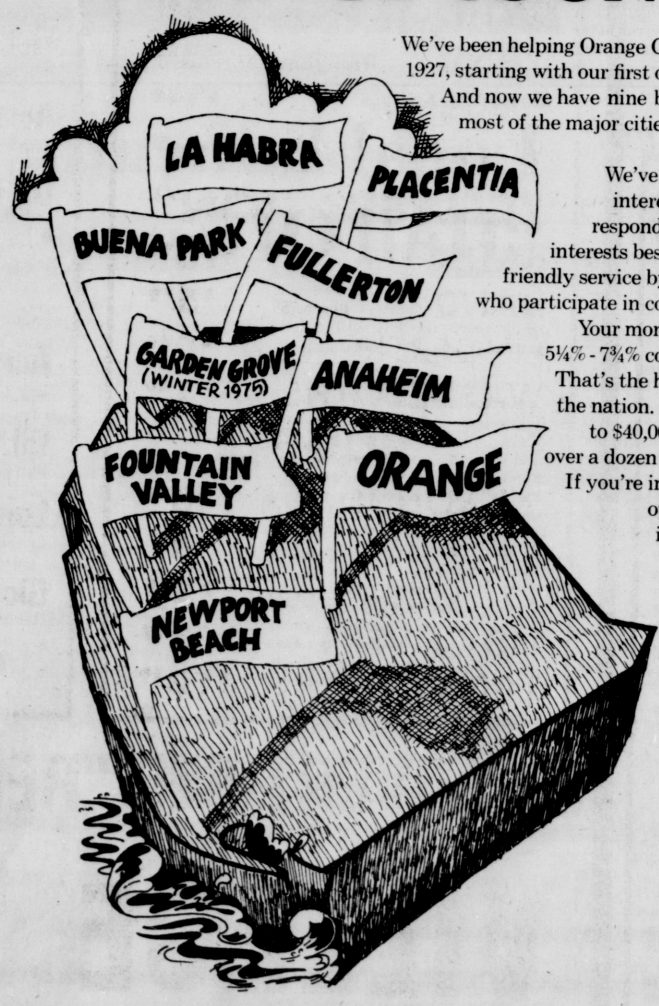

Bob was instrumental in forming the Service Mans Center in Anaheim and Yorba Linda named him the "Young Man of the Year."

Bob, his wife Judy and daughters Lori, Lisa, Jan and Jill have been Yorba Linda residents for ten years. He is an active family man and escorts his daughters to their favorite sport of ice skating on weekends.

Bob Rogers (right) and Bobby Knoop---both Yorba Lindans will return to Angels team.

KATIE'S COLUMN
or DOWN ON THE FARM
by Kay Starr

Does my column look different this time? It should. I am using my neighbor's typewriter and it is a heck of a lot better than mine, except I still have trouble with letters printing backwards or twisted around. For instance, "the" comes out "teh", "of" comes out "fo" and "to" comes out "ot". Just try reading a sentence like "Teh dog chased teh cat", or "She went ot teh store" or "ot everyone there comes a day of joy and happiness". You get the idea. I really like my neighbor's typewriter, it's the typist who gives me problems.

I didn't like what I found at the farm today. Over the past few years there have been all kinds of vandalism and petty thefts, but nothing really gets to me like the uprooting of my trees. It wasn't many, but even four or five is too much. From the evidence of the other little acts I would surmise it to be the work of rather young people. Perhaps this is a good time to remind you that unsupervised youngsters can destroy large quantities of other people's property. Cost of insurance to protect property is getting very expensive and isn't always available for certain items. But even if insurance does pay for the damage, someone has to pay for the insurance, and guess who that is.

Holidays are so nice, a refreshing breath between bouts of work or school. Unfortunately in this day with the high cost of food, I can't afford holidays, or at least not that allow my children at home and near the refrigerator and cupboards. Remember that poor dog that had none? After 12 hours of vacation, the cupboard was bare, the refrigerator was bare, and my purse was gasping. We no longer speak in terms of what did we buy, we talk about how much we paid for how little we brought home from the store. What used to take me 2 or 3 trips to the car to carry in, I can manage with one hand and it costs the same as before. And it isn't just food that goes up, it is everything including rent, clothes, books, laundry, and everything else.

I hear the postcards that the Chamber of Commerce has placed in several locations are selling exceptionally well. I've bought some to send to my friends back east. Just want them to know what we look like. That blue sky is going to get them thinking about moving it out here, especially now that they are waist deep in snow. Couldn't we put one picture showing the mud slides, or flooded intersections on the next card? Oh, well, they would never believe it anyway.

By Jack Scarpa

Many of you know that for the past year we have been involved in a battle with the City of Placentia for the right to conduct our real estate business in the Town Center Shopping Center.

That battle brought us once again to a Superior Courtroom in the Santa Ana Courthouse last week. As I write this, no decision has been rendered; probably as you read this the decision will have been made.

In the overall view, whether a real estate office is allowed in the Town Center or not is relatively unimportant. However, whether we win or lose is important. If we lose, the people of this city will be the real losers, for arrogant officials who ride roughshod over the people they serve will have their unfortunate behavior reinforced--approved, if you will.

If, however, we win, then the people of this city and many cities will be the winners, for the officials will be put on notice by the courts that they must make their City decisions based on the law, and not be arbitrary or capricious, but rather reasonable in the application of that law.

I believe it would be good if the officials responsible for these court actions were required to attend the hearings. It would be an eye-opening experience for our City Council. City Attorney Charles Post had a difficult Council action to defend, and the sharp questions of the judge made it even more apparent. It was almost a repeat of the last hearing (September) when another Superior Court Judge found the City Council guilty of "abusing their power of discretion."

We recognize that historically the Courts have sided with cities in court actions. If it happens here, Bonnie and I are prepared to continue the battle in Appeals Court.

Sitting in the courtroom, hearing the arguments of attorneys and the sharp questions of the stern judge, reminded me again that the major decisions of our lives are often made by others. Decisions of others had brought me to this Courtroom and now the decision of one individual will determine my future. Who is this individual? A judge who is a stranger to me and probably always will be. Life remains a great and mysterious challenge.

Welcome

Triumphs and defeats come and go, but somehow the accomplishments of our children remain a warm and wonderful memory to encourage and inspire us. Even the memory of some things that were heartily disapproved of and shocking at the time come back to amuse us.

This week, our 23 year old daughter, Judy Kathleen Scarpa, is joining this firm as a real estate saleswoman. She graduated last June from the California State University in Fullerton. As a gift from us, her proud parents, she traveled to Hawaii for a two week vacation. She fell in love with it, got a job and stayed for months.

I guess you know that is the last gift of a trip that we will ever give any of our offspring. We learn quickly. To be a parent these days you've got to be a fast study. All joking aside, it's one of the happiest occasions of my life to welcome our only daughter to Herbert Hawkins. Welcome Judy!!

EASTER TIME is almost here and it's none too soon to start thinking about what to wear for the special occasion. In this vein, members of the Tiny Tots Saturday, held a fashion show before a capacity crowd which packed the Backs Building with mothers, fathers, grandparents and other relatives. Lined up for resounding applause are [left to right], Julie and Traci Walker, in attractive look alike outfits, two handsome Easter bunnies wearing real carrots, Jon and Brad Syndergaard and femininly attired Jennifer Green, Melissa Cameron and Brenda Hines. The club is sponsored by the Placentia Parks and Recreation Department.

Little League Camps Open

With the Little League season almost at hand, Western Regional Headquarters in San Bernardino, California, has announced its third annual Summer Camp Program.

Open to boys 10 to 12 years of age, whether or not affiliated with a Little League team, the Summer Camp at San Bernardino provides a variety of recreation with the emphasis on fundamentals of baseball. Camp games are played on the Western Regional Championship field where, in August, Little League State Champions from the 13 Western States meet to determine the Western Regional representative in the World Series.

In addition to a well-rounded baseball program, boys attending the camp participate in swimming, basketball, volleyball, table tennis and other recreational activities.

Camp sessions are supervised by experienced instructors and counselors selected for their ability to work with and understand boys of Little League age.

Campers live in air-conditioned dormitory units adjacent to the Little League Stadium and enjoy nourishing meals

Two-week camp sessions are scheduled starting July 6 and July 20. Day campers are accepted.

Boys of parents interested can obtain information and applications by writing to: Little League Summer Camp, 6707 Little League Drive, San Bernardino, California 92407.
